

Career Development Workshop
5-7 June 2010
University of Oslo, Norway

Jean Piene -

Thank You for Helping Us Shape the Future of Polar Research!

With sincere appreciation! Tusen Takk from the Organizers: Alexandra Jahn, Inga May, Helen Atkinson, Selima Ben Mustapha, Harry Borlase, Nicole Couture, Francisco Fernandez, Hauke Flores, Ryan Fogt, Gerlis Fugmann, Sian Henley, Hugues Lantuit, Jennifer Lee, Nathalie Morata, Jennifer Rehmman, Graham Simpkins, Kristin Timm, Masha Tsukernik, Anton Van de Putte, Penelope Wagner, Mike Willis, and Jenny Baeseman

Lantuit AJB Nicole Couture A. Jahn J. Lee Hugues Wagner Hauke Flores Jenny Baeseman Masha Tsukernik Kristin Timm Mike Willis Nathalie Morata Inga May Sian Henley Dr. Ryan Fogt Harry Borlase G. Simpkins Jennifer Rehmman

The Association of Polar Early Career Scientists (APECS) aims to provide the tools for early career researchers to develop the skills necessary to work and collaborate in the increasingly critical international and interdisciplinary area of polar research. To help achieve this goal, APECS hosted a career development workshop in conjunction with the IPY Oslo Science Conference.

The 2-day APECS Career Development Workshop consisted of plenary lectures, group discussions, hands-on breakout sessions and networking opportunities. Participants chose from sessions on: Alternative Polar Careers, Communicating with the Media, Influencing Policy and Policy Makers, International Collaborations and Field Work, Managing Research Projects and People, Presenting Your Results at Conferences, Education and Outreach, Teaching at a University Level, Writing Proposals and Funding Your Ideas. Networking activities and plenary lectures were held together with the PolarTEACHERS Workshop to encourage partnerships between educators and researchers. Breakout sessions were lead by APECS members together with outstanding mentors from the polar research community mentors.

For more information on the workshop visit <http://apecs.is/workshops/oslo2010>